Advertisement for Vacancy in a Research Project- Walk-in Online Interview on 20.11.2023

Applications are invited from eligible candidates for an Extramural research project (funded by AHP SR_WHO) entitled "Examining the Role of Digital Intervention from a Health System Lens in delivering quality maternal and child health services: A Study of the Reproductive and Child Health Portal, Maternal and Child Tracking System, and ANMOL App in Odisha, India" at AIIMS Kalyani on a tenure basis.

Eligible candidates may appear for the walk-in- online interview on 20/11/23 at the specified time below. Other details like age limit, educational qualification, selection process, and how to apply are described below. The link for the online interview will be shared through email with shortlisted candidates.

Principal investigator: Dr. Gitismita Naik, Assistant Professor, Department of Community Medicine and Family Medicine.

Project details: Health systems are rapidly evolving to integrate digital interventions. Effective implementation of any intervention is necessary to make a program successful. Previous studies have pointed out a need to evaluate the implementation and operation of digital interventions like the MCTS portal and ANMOL app to improve these interventions' performance, efficiency, and equity. This proposal seeks to understand how these digital interventions aid decision-making and the role of these digital interventions in the decision-making process and, thereby, in service delivery. The study is funded by a grant from the Alliance for Health Policy and Systems Research (AHP SR) and the World Health Organization (WHO) under the call "Role of Digital Interventions in Strengthening Health Systems in LMICs." The project will last one year (November 2023 to October 2024), with field activities till May-June 2024.
